Laurent Perrier Champagne
Quite often people do not realise why they like a certain champagne brand. Some houses focus on the pinot noir grape in their champagnes which provides big, round and powerful cuvées and some houses focus on Chardonnay which provides more mineral drive, citrus and elegance. If you prefer the latter, consider a bottle of Laurent-Perrier as your ‘go-to’ entertaining wine.

This maison has a serious history but over the last 100 years has had a long line of influential women at its helm (Mathilde Emilie Perrier in 1812 and later in 1935 Marie-Louise Lanson de Nonancourt), and we cannot help but think that this has influenced the style - graceful, elegant and sophisticated. Of the larger maisons in champagne this is more subtle and understated in its profile and is an affordable champagne label.

Laurent Perrier Cuvée Brut

Rose Champagne
Laurent Perrier Cuvée Rosé NV has long been the world’s biggest selling Rose Champagne, and it’s not hard to see why this has attracted such a strong following on the international stage. Produced from 100% Pinot Noir grapes, this has a bright salmon colour, complex berry aromas and an intense palate that is bursting with cherry and strawberry flavours. A top class Champagne from Laurent Perrier, this is well deserving of its title as "The Queen Of Rose Champagne".

Laurent Perrier Ultra Brut
Champagne
Ultra Brut Laurent-Perrier makes play with an aromatic array of stone fruit and honeysuckle with an underlying lively dash of citrus. The wine offers an extreme sensation of freshness. Perfectly rounded, incisive and elegant. Ultra Brut Laurent-Perrier is ethereal and delicate, with surprising length. Its fruit, floral and mineral notes guarantee a lengthy concert of taste sensations. The overriding sensation is one of purity without austerity and, in the lengthy finish, an elusive hint of the sea.
